Sustainability and One Health:
AN INTERPROFESSIONAL APPROACH TO ADDRESSING OUR CLIMATE CRISIS

The session will address the question of how health professionals can take an interprofessional approach to addressing the climate crisis. In particular, we will be discussing the concept of One Health -- people, plants, animals and our shared environment -- and how we can be formidable advocates for change through education and action.

Invited Panelists:

• Katherine Collins, DNP, School of Nursing
• Andrea Hicks, PhD, Civil and Environmental Engineering
• Kurt Sladky, DVM, School of Veterinary Medicine
• Michel A. Wattiaux, PhD, Professor, Dairy Systems Management, Department of Animal and Dairy Science; Director, Center for Integrated Agricultural Systems (CIAS)
• Karin Zuegge, MD, SMPH Department of Anesthesiology; UW Health Medical Director of Sustainability

RSVP at:
https://bit.ly/3mQjRC2
or:
https://uwmadison.zoom.us/j/94519290437

Monday, November 8, 2021
5:30 p.m. - 6:45 p.m.